Practical Points From a Practical Business College

Teaching Telegraphy successfully depends on the teacher. And the successful Telegraph Teacher—the one who turns out men and women who succeed as Telegraphers—does not TEACH at all, but shows all the students HOW. He MAKES Telegraphers. He drills and shows and shows and drills until the knowledge of both the theory and practice of Telegraphy is a part of the pupil. You can't pry that pupil and that knowledge apart. He graduates Telegraphers who succeed right from the start in the field that offers simply wonderful opportunities for all young men and

But it is only that Telegraphy Teacher who is a practical Telegrapher, one who has worked as Telegrapher, just as every graduate of

The Telegraphy Department of Boyles College

must do after graduation, who succeeds as a Telegraph Teacher.

The theoretical teacher can glibly read from a Text Book and make an impressive bluff at knowing Telegraphy, but he can't SHOW a pupil HOW to be a successful WORKING Telegrapher himself.

De a successful WORKING Telegrapher himself.

NO ONE CAN SHOW ANYONE HOW TO DO OR TO BE ANYTHING THAT HE HAS NEVER DONE OR BEEN HIMSELF.

The Chief of the Boyles College Department of Telegraphy spent many busy, successful years in some of the most important Telegraph offices in the country, before he came to us. He knows. He can show. Boyles College Telegraphy Graduates can't help but succeed just because of that very fact to.
